Scheme Update February 2020

Plant Response Test Technical Working Group

We invite any compost producers that would like to join the Plant Response Test Technical Working Group, as an operator representative, to express your interest by Friday 13th March 2020. Representation on this group will be beneficial in ensuring a balance of views. Issues surrounding test failures and appropriate corrective actions have been raised at the CCS Producers' Forum, but there may be other certified producers experiencing similar issues in relation to plant response testing and certification, that haven't attended a Forum meeting. This individual will join Gregor Keenan.

Please contact georgia@realschemes.org.uk if you have any questions.

CCS Producers' Forum

The next CCS Producers' Forum will be held on Thursday 28th May 2020. We are currently in the process of securing a venue for this meeting. If you are interested in offering your site to host the meeting, please get in contact with Molly at molly@realschemes.org.uk.

Discussions from the previous meeting on 16th October 2019 centred around updates about our Market Development Working Group, Research Hub, the CQP review, and the CCS position on Technical Requirements. The minutes from this meeting can be found here.

We will share the full details about the next meeting soon.

Laboratory complaints procedures

A reminder to all operators that if you would like to make a complaint against one of the CCS Approved Laboratories, please use the CCS Laboratory Complaint Form, which can be downloaded from our website here. Complaints can only be investigated if the correct procedures are followed, which includes full details of the complaint. We request that you copy us into these emails, using the email address info@realschemes.org.uk.
